

ELECTION DAY BINGO

A random celebrity threatens to leave the U.S. after the election

Back-to-back election ads air during commercials

Any animal-related ballot measure in Denver or Colorado is mentioned

Someone says they're voting for Trump for taxes/economy

Someone says they're voting for Harris because they don't like Trump

Someone reminds us Joe Biden is still president

Trump claims election fraud

Someone mentions immigrant gangs in Aurora

Trump refers to something he did as the greatest "in the history of our country"

The white woman vote gets brought up

Someone asks if third-party candidates impacted the election

The suburban vote gets brought up

W

Mayor Mike Johnston uses the word "vibrant" while discussing any Denver measure

Republican candidate mentions taking back America

Democratic candidate mentions protecting democracy

Republican candidate mentions defending families or Jesus Christ

Democratic candidate mentions women's rights

Kamala Harris says "The American dream belongs to all of us"

The word "woke" makes an appearance

Trump declares victory in any state before half the votes are in

Colorado results appear on national news coverage

Steve Kornacki, John King, Chuck Todd or a Map Daddy (or Mommy) has "breaking news" for the tenth time

Lauren Boebert disputes election results/media reports

Someone calls Trump a convict